8 All Pupils - "UK Bebras Computational Thinking Challenge

The Bebras challenges are made of a set of short problems called Bebras tasks and are delivered online. The tasks are fun, engaging and based on problems that Computer Scientists often meet and enjoy solving. The tasks can be solved without prior knowledge but instead require logical thinking.

The aim is to solve 18 challenges in 40 minutes. You can compete these from home, or alternatively from school and the competition runs for the next two weeks starting Monday the 5th. Mr Soames is running drop in breaktime and lunchtime sessions in F079 where you can come and use the computers to practice the previous challenges, work with friends or on your own and only when you feel ready then do you sit the 40 minute timed challenge!
